ABOUT ME

I've always had a genuine passion for computer science.

I enjoy constantly learning and building new skills.

I like keeping up with new ideas and technologies, and I'm often excited to try them out early.

Working remotely gives me the freedom to apply my expertise from anywhere, while staying connected and effective.

Outside of tech, I practice combat sports, which help me stay active, focused, and balanced - qualities that I bring into my professional life as well.
